1. Objective

At HCL Technologies (hereafter referred as the "Company" or "HCL") we strongly believe in the principle of Trust through Transparency and Accountability. This forms the foundation of the HCL Code of Business Ethics and Conduct (hereafter known as the "COBEC" or the "Code"). This articulates zero tolerance approach towards bribery and corruption.

2. Scope

All policies, practices, processes, business dealings at HCL are governed by the COBEC. The COBEC covers all directors, employees, third party vendors, consultants and customers across the world, whether operating out of any HCL location or otherwise.

All relationships - with directors, employees, customers, partners, stakeholders, suppliers etc. need to be built on the foundations of trust and transparency. This is what we believe in and practice every day at HCL.

The Code further acts as a guide to all HCL directors, employees and various stakeholders on the values, ethics and business principles expected of them in their personal and professional conduct. HCL takes cognizance of the fact that it and/ or its subsidiaries are growing rapidly across geographies and this growth must at all times be aligned with the spirit of the COBEC and the ethos, brand and reputation of HCL.

The COBEC cannot address every question or every possible circumstance and hence should be read in conjunction with applicable laws and policies and procedures of the Company.

This COBEC also covers all employees active on the rolls of any new entity acquired anywhere in the world by HCL or any of its subsidiaries from time to time.

3. Definition

In this document, we use the terms "we," "us," "our," "the Company" and "HCL" to refer to HCL Technologies and/ or its subsidiaries. The terms "you," "your", "employee" and "HCLite" refer to every person who works at the Company including the senior management, or serves on its Board of Directors.

The term "COBEC" or the "Code" means this document, as we may amend or add to it from time to time.

4. What is Expected of Everyone

Comply with the Code and the Law

Understand this Code and comply with the Code and the law wherever you are. Use good judgment and avoid even the appearance of improper behavior. In case of any conflict between this Code and any local laws and/ or regulations, including professional obligations, the local laws and/ or regulations will prevail and you must follow the law rather than this Code to the extent of such conflict. If local custom or policy varies with this Code, HCL expects you to follow this Code.

In addition to the requirements under this Code, the Independent Directors shall be required to abide with the requirements as mentioned in Annexure-I attached herewith.

Consider your actions and ask for guidance. If ever in doubt about a course of conduct, ask yourself:

- Is it consistent with the Code?

- Is it ethical?
- Is it legal?
- Will it reflect well on me and the Company?
- Would I want to read about it in the newspaper?

If the answer is "No" to any of these questions, don't do it.

If you are still uncertain, ask for guidance. The Code tries to capture many of the situations that employees will encounter, but cannot address every circumstance.

You can seek help from any of the following:

- Human Resources Management
- Company's General Counsel's office or senior finance personnel supporting your business
- Compliance Officer within Secretarial team

5. HCL Core Values

To uphold the dignity of the individual

We place significant emphasis on the respect and dignity of every HCL employee. HCL employees are empowered to drive innovation, transforming client engagements and markedly improving client satisfaction. HCL believes in valuing employees as individuals (not resources), upholding the dignity of all people and displaying tolerance and respect.

To honor all commitments

We keep our commitments to each other and with every stakeholder.

Commitment to quality, innovation and growth in every endeavor

HCL is committed to supporting quality processes and employee productivity in a culture and working environment in which they feel appreciated and in which innovation is allowed to thrive.

To be responsible corporate citizens

We believe in encouraging a sense of social responsibility and to give back to society. We take pride in being a company with a strong social conscience. We firmly believe that every drop counts and every step aimed at helping the community is an important step. Our commitment to make a positive difference to the community and the environment in which we operate is a sustained effort and not just a one off initiative.

6. Culture At Work

We create value in one very specific place: the interface between our employees and our customers. This is called the "value zone." The philosophy is about placing employees first and customers second to activate the value zone - the place where the frontline employees interact with customers and create real value for them. This recognizes employees as the strategic elements, turns the management structure upside down, democratizes HCL's functions and way of working. Every employee who works in the value zone is capable of creating more value. The whole intent of such action is to do everything that can enable those employees to create the most possible value. This approach has led us to take a number of actions to turn the organizational pyramid upside down. In other words, we want management to be as accountable to the people in the value zone as the people in the value zone are to management.

Our recruitment and promotion policies are based on meritocracy and ability to learn, adapt and assimilate change. We ensure equal opportunities irrespective of gender, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, religion or ethnicity in hiring, pay and/ or career advancement. We focus on promoting workplace diversity and have supplier specific diversity program.

7. Business and Financial Records

Ensure the accuracy of all Company business and financial records. These include not only financial accounts, but other records such as quality reports, time records, expense reports and submissions such as benefits claim forms and resumes.

Ensuring accurate and complete business and financial records is every HCLite's responsibility, not just a role for accounting and finance personnel. Accurate recordkeeping and reporting reflects on the Company's reputation and credibility, and ensures that the Company meets its legal and regulatory obligations.

Always record and classify transactions in the proper accounting period and in the appropriate account and department. Do not delay or accelerate the recording of revenue or expenses to meet budgetary goals.

Estimates and accruals must be supported by appropriate documentation and be based on your best judgment.

Ensure that all reports to regulatory authorities are full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable. Never misrepresent any document.

Do not distort the true nature of any transaction.

Never enable another person's efforts to evade taxes or subvert local currency laws. Payments generally should be made only to the person or firm that actually provided the goods or services. Payments should be made in the supplier's home country, where it does business, or where the goods were sold or services provided, unless the supplier legitimately has assigned payment or sold its accounts receivable to another entity.

Strive for Accuracy: Employees must strive to be accurate when preparing any information for the Company, but genuine mistakes occasionally might happen. Only intentional efforts to misrepresent or improperly record transactions, or otherwise to forge a Company business record, are Code violations.

EXAMPLES

1. Medical Coverage

An employee attempted to obtain Company medical coverage for her adult children by submitting a form claiming that her children were fulltime students. In fact, the children were no longer students. The employee falsified Company records.

2. Revenue Recognition

A sales manager estimated that he would meet his targets for the month. To make up the difference, he hired an external warehouse to receive product and then recorded shipments to receive the products and then recorded shipments to the warehouse as sales. The sales manager falsified the accounts.

8. Use Of Company Time, Equipment And Other Benefits

Company Assets

Protect the Company's assets, and use those assets in the manner intended. Do not use Company assets for your personal benefit or the benefit of anyone other than the Company.

Use common sense. For example, the occasional personal phone call or e-mail from your workplace is acceptable. Excessive personal calls or e-mail is a misuse of Company assets.

Company policy may allow additional personal use of certain assets, such as a Company car. Always check relevant local policies to ensure that you are using Company assets as intended.

Theft of Company assets—whether physical theft such as unauthorized removal of Company product, equipment or information, or theft through embezzlement or intentional misreporting of time or expenses—may result in termination and criminal prosecution. The Company treats workplace theft of assets belonging to other employees the same way it treats theft of Company assets.

The use of Company assets outside of your Company responsibilities— such as using your Company work product in an external venture, or using Company materials or equipment to support personal interests—requires prior written approval from your HR Manager. You must have this approval renewed annually if you continue to use the asset outside of work.

Do not engage in personal activities during work hours that interfere with or prevent you from fulfilling your job responsibilities.

Do not use Company computers and equipment for outside businesses, or for illegal or unethical activities such as gambling, pornography or other offensive subject matter.

Do not take for yourself any opportunity for financial gain that you learn about because of your position at the Company, or through the use of Company property or information.

Examples of Company Assets : Company money, Company product, Employees' time at work and work product, Computer systems and software, Telephones, Wireless communication devices, Photocopiers, Company sponsored tickets to concerts or sporting events, Company vehicles, Proprietary information and Company trademarks.

EXAMPLES

1. A Personal Favor

An employee used Company computers and equipment as well as time at work, to design and print wedding invitations and birth announcements. The employee misused Company assets.

2. Teaching

Q: I am a marketing manager and have volunteered to teach a course on marketing at a local college. I believe that my students would benefit from a discussion of how the Company developed several marketing campaigns. Can I discuss this work in class?

A: Only with proper approval from your HR Manager. The development of marketing campaigns is a Company work product and a Company asset. Much of this work may be proprietary, and may not be appropriate to reveal outside the Company.

3. Personal Assistance

A manager persistently asked an administrative assistant to take care of the manager's personal business on Company time, such as picking up dry cleaning, balancing a personal check book and shopping for personal gifts. The manager misused the assistant's work time, which is a Company asset.

4. Ticket Swap

A marketing employee had access to Company tickets to sporting events to be used for consumer promotions. The employee sent some of the tickets to an acquaintance working at a hotel chain in exchange for free hotel rooms for the employee's personal use. The employee misused Company assets.

5. Use of Information

Safeguard the Company's non-public information, which includes everything from contracts and pricing information to marketing plans, technical specifications and employee information.

6. Non-public Information

Do not disclose non-public information to anyone outside the Company, including to family and friends, except when disclosure is required for business purposes. Even then, take appropriate steps, such as execution of a confidentiality agreement, to prevent misuse of the information.

Do not disclose non-public information to others inside the Company unless they have a business reason to know. Employees are obligated to protect the Company's non-public information at all times, including outside of the workplace and working hours, and even after employment ends.

Retain or discard Company records in accordance with the Company's record retention process. Company's legal counsel occasionally may issue "litigation hold" notices regarding retention of records in the case of actual or threatened litigation or government investigation. Employees must abide by the directions contained in these notices, as failure to do so could subject the Company and employees to serious legal risks.

7. What Is Non-public Information?

It is any information that the Company has not disclosed or made generally available to the public. Examples include information related to: Employees, Inventions, Contracts, Strategic and business plans, Major management changes, new product launches, Mergers and acquisitions, Technical specifications, Pricing Proposals, Financial data and Product costs.

9. Securities And Insider Trading

Insider trading (including “tipping”, which is disclosing any unpublished sensitive price information) is prohibited by the law and is a clear violation of the COBEC. Please refer to the Code of Conduct on Prohibition of Insider Trading (“Insider Trading Code”) uploaded in policies hub for more details.

Further employees are expected to strictly adhere to the no trading’ periods as and when specified by the Company on the intranet site www.myhcl.com as well as through e-mailer to all employees of HCL.

Designated employees/ directors, Key Managerial Personnel (KMP) and their dependents who buy or sell shares of the Company shall not enter into an opposite transaction (sell or buy, as the case may be).

Disclosure to be made to the company by promoters, directors and all employees in case they trade in the shares beyond the value of Rs. 10 lacs in a calendar quarter within 2 trading days.

There is also a consequence for non-compliance to the Code of Conduct for Prevention of Insider Trading. For details please refer to the same.

10. Privacy

The Company respects the privacy of all its employees, business partners and customers. We must handle personal data responsibly and in compliance with all applicable privacy laws.

Employees who handle the personal data of others must:

- Act in accordance with applicable law;
- Act in accordance with any relevant contractual obligations
- Collect, use and process such information only for legitimate business purposes;
- Limit access to the information to those who have a legitimate business purpose for seeing the information; and
- Take care to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

11. Conflict Of Interest

Actual / Potential Conflict

A conflict of interest exists where the personal interests or benefits of the employee interferes with the business interests or benefits of the Company. A conflict of interest can arise when an HCLite:

Takes an action or has an interest that may make it difficult for him/ her to execute work objectively and effectively;

or

Receives improper personal benefits as a result of his/her position in the Company.

While creating the requirement to seek Company approval for engaging in any not-for-profit activity outside of work, HCL does not intend to stop community activities of employees and encourages it, though it needs it to be pre-approved by Corporate HR in case it involves any Company asset or information.

Employees are expected to avoid conflicts of interest between their personal interests and those of HCL.

Employees should promptly and fully disclose to the employee's manager and/or supervisor any situation that could reasonably present either an actual conflict of interest or the appearance of a conflict of interest. Any activity that may even appear to represent a conflict of interest should be disclosed and avoided. Every situation is unique and determination of an actual conflict will depend on such factors as job position and the extent of the employee's involvement.

Outside Activities

Employees shall not participate in any outside activity (including as an officer, director, owner, consultant, or employee) that could or appears to interfere with the performance of their or other employees' duties and responsibilities, affect their independent and objective judgment, compete with an HCL business, or discredit HCL. Each employee's primary business obligation should be to HCL, and personal business affairs or outside employment should be kept separate and distinct from those of HCL in every respect and not be based on Company property, information or position, and not divert business opportunities away from HCL. Any revenue generation activity is not permitted. Any other remuneration received has to be declared if it is received in a company sponsored event which you attended.

An employee's outside activities should not be conducted on HCL property and not involve the use of any HCL assets, materials, property, or the services of other HCL employees, or involve the employee's activities during HCL work hours. Exceptions may be granted by the employee's manager and/or supervisor, where the situation warrants.

Employees should not use HCL image or influence, directly or indirectly, for personal gain or benefit. In this regard, an employee, while on the job or as an HCL representative, should not solicit customers to hire or contract with him/her for outside work of any kind.

12. Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption

Bribery in any form is not tolerated. Please refer to the Anti-Bribery Anti-Corruption Policy.

13. Equal Opportunity

HCL is an Equal Opportunity Employer and endeavors to treat all potential candidates and employees equally without regard to their race, religion, sex, colour, age, national origin, marital status, pregnancy (including child birth), sexual orientation, medical condition, disability etc. HCL further provides equal opportunities in employment, upgrading, promotion or transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, wages or other compensation, selection for training, including apprenticeship, pre-apprenticeship, and/ or on the job training. Ensuring and maintaining a work environment free of harassment and intimidation and coercion at all facilities where HCL employees function, is therefore high on the priority list. HCL will ensure adherence to the laws of the land with regard to employment norms and will not indulge in practices such as employing child labour, bonded labour etc. Please refer to the policy on Equal Employment Opportunity available on Policy Hub.

Recruitment Decisions should be based on the candidate's merits e.g education, prior experience and qualifications. This includes the individual's skills, performance, values, leadership and other job related criteria. All employment related decisions should be taken without regard to a person's race, sex including pregnancy, color, national or social origin, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, medical condition, political opinion or any other status protected by applicable law and policy.

14. Workplace and Sexual Harassment

The Company has a strong, clear and documented stand against any form of harassment at the workplace. Harassment as a result of discrimination or which is sexual in nature and has the effect of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment is not allowed at HCL.

Allowing Harassment to Continue: Managers and/or supervisors who allow workplace harassment to continue or fail to take appropriate corrective action upon becoming aware of the harassment may be considered a party to the offence, even though they may not have engaged in such behaviour themselves. Thus, they are also held responsible for such misconduct and subject to disciplinary action as per the COBEC. Please refer to the Secure policy. HCL is committed to provide a work environment free of workplace and sexual harassment.

15. Drugs and Weapons

The Company strictly prohibits any person entering the Company premises under the influence of or in possession of any intoxicating substance (including alcohol) or any other drugs. Further, any person in possession of unauthorized weapons, illegal firearms, weapons, or explosives will not be permitted to enter the Company premises. However, the trained security personnel may possess authorized weapons as mandated.

All employees are prohibited from using cell phones or other wireless devices (e.g., smartphones, pagers, Blackberry or PDA devices, laptops, etc.) while conducting HCL business in situations, including but not limited to driving a vehicle, in which it appears to the employee that the use of such devices is likely to increase the risk of injury to an employee or to the public. Employees are encouraged to use a hands-free device or to safely stop the vehicle before using a cell phone or other wireless device while driving. Under no circumstances are employees allowed or required to place themselves or others at risk to fulfill HCL's business needs.

17. Intellectual Property

Employees should not infringe or violate the intellectual property rights of others and should use proprietary material of others only under valid licenses & in accordance with the terms of such licenses. Any unauthorized receipt or use of the intellectual property of others may expose HCL to civil & criminal liabilities and employees are advised to strictly adhere by all HCL policies & procedures, including those governing the appropriate handling of unsolicited intellectual property.

Employees are advised to refer to guidelines as issued by the Information Security, Risk Management and Information Technology Departments from time to time.

18. Environmental Protection

Environmental commitments that achieve regulatory compliance are interwoven into every level and every activity of HCL. The Company is committed to environmental protection. Employees are expected to comply with environmental regulations and maintain the Company's standards.

19. HCL And Its Customers

HCL believes in helping its customers to shift paradigms and start revolutions. We seek to understand our clients' expectations and strive to meet and exceed them. We collaborate with our clients to shape exceptional opportunities of value that can be predicted, measured and repeated. We also conduct business with national governments and government-owned enterprises irrespective of the geographical location. In every instance, an HCLite must apply the highest ethical standards and comply with applicable laws and regulations, including certain special requirements associated with government transactions.

Delivering Value: Our client relationships are rooted in trust and delivering real value. We base our advice, recommendations and solutions on objective criteria and the needs of the client, not on convenience or self-interest. This means we will decline an opportunity if we believe we cannot deliver value and we will tell the client why. Because we understand that the organization is our client—rather than any individual employee or officer—we are open and transparent in our relationships with people at all levels in the organization.

Delivering the Committed: We build business relationships that endure and prosper because they are based on mutual respect and trust. Because HCL's size, scope and talent mix often require different people to sell, negotiate and deliver our services, we do not make promises the Company cannot keep. Through available internal resources or by collaborating with others, we ensure we have the skills and capabilities necessary to deliver the work we sell.

Understand our clients' Code of Conduct: We understand that our clients have codes of conduct comparable to our own. We recognize that in certain industries and sectors, like financial services, or while working with governments or clients owned or controlled by governments, rules of conduct can be more stringent than our own. We seek to understand not only our clients' business requirements, but also how our clients expect us to interact with their people—and we comply with these expectations. We do not rely on individual client employee or even officer to tell us a client's rule which we should understand ourselves.

We require anyone providing goods or services to HCL on a government project or contract (such as consultants, sales representatives, distributors or suppliers) to agree to comply with the intent of this COBEC.

Be truthful and accurate when dealing with customers including government officials and agencies.

Adopt processes that ensure reports, certifications, statements and proposals are current, accurate and complete and that contract requirements are adequately identified and communicated to the responsible parties.

Do not make any unauthorized substitutions for contracted goods and services or deviate from contract requirements without the written approval of the authorized customer representative.

You may not be employed by, or otherwise provide services for or receive payment from, any customer, supplier or competitor of the Company.

20. HCL And Its Suppliers

HCL's relationships with suppliers are based on lawful, efficient and fair practices. We expect our suppliers to obey the laws that require them to treat employees fairly, provide a safe and healthy work environment and protect the quality of the environment.

Comply with applicable laws and government regulations covering supplier relationships.

Do Business only with suppliers that comply with local and other applicable legal requirements. HCL believes in meritocracy requirement (no discrimination) vis-à-vis vendor selection.

Safeguard HCL's Confidential and Proprietary Information with a confidentiality agreement, and safeguard any supplier-provided information protected by any confidentiality agreement.

Safeguard "personal data" obtained from suppliers.

21. Compliance And Discipline

Any standards become irrelevant unless there are clear mechanisms to deal with their violations. We would be negligent if we did not state categorically that deviations from the COBEC will not be tolerated.

Disciplinary action will be taken against any individual violating these standards. Specifically, disciplinary action will be taken against any employee who is found to have: authorized, condoned, participated in or concealed actions that are in violation of the COBEC; against any manager who disregards or approves a violation, or who, through lack of diligence in supervision, fails to prevent or report violations; against managers who retaliate, directly or indirectly, or encourage others to retaliate against an employee who reports a potential violation of these standards.

Since these standards are very important to our basic existence, the response to a deviation from them can lead to including and upto termination of employment.

The following action(s) may be taken depending on the severity of the situation:

- Reprimand
- Verbal warning
- Written warning
- Probation or other disciplinary action

- Recovery of damages suffered by HCL

Any other penal remedy that may be available to the Company under the applicable law of the country where the act has been committed, including recovery of compensation or imposition of fines and any other such actions as may be warranted depending on the circumstances of the case.

The COBEC places HCL alongside those global corporations which emphasize the importance of quality business conduct and solid business ethics. Our standards can only be met with the cooperation of HCL's employees, long recognized as HCL's most valuable asset. Through their efforts, HCL and the COBEC set the standard for others to follow.
