HCL Technologies Named a Titanium Partner in Intel Network Builders Winners Circle 2021

NOIDA, INDIA, Dec. 16, 2021 – HCL Technologies (HCL), a leading global technology company, has been named a Titanium level partner by the Intel Network Builders Winner’s Circle ecosystem program.

The Intel Network Builders Winners’ Circle program engages ecosystem partners to further align the industry to accelerate network innovation. Through continuous collaboration with partners, the program promotes solutions across the network space. Intel Network Builders members push optimized solutions to market and deliver tools and documentation to speed up solution deployments.

The program which drives greater technical enablement, has recognized HCL as an industry leader with its go-to-market planning and will help further strengthen HCL’s industry’s relationship with end users.

HCL has received this recognition for its contribution to the acceleration of 5G, edge and virtual network transformation, and by working closely with Intel and the Intel Network Builders ecosystem.

This recognition is viewed by HCL as a validation of its innovation and advancement in creating products and technologies that transform enterprise, service provider, and data center networks, in turn bringing superior performance and intelligence to both the network core and the network edge to help clients drive their business growth. HCL is committed to driving advancement in the networking landscape with Intel as its strategic partner.

“This is a major validation of our larger ecosystem and #HCLCloudSmart strategy, as we build communities of innovation with our partners and collaborate to develop transformative solutions for our clients”, said Anand Swamy, Senior Vice President and Head, Tech OEM Ecosystem Business Units, HCL Technologies. “This accolade will further provide us access to industry leading solution providers who work within the Intel Network Builders program and help us optimize our solutions for our clients by leveraging Intel architecture.”

“The Winners’ Circle Awards program recognizes Intel Network Builders partners that deliver technical innovation and industry leadership,” said Keate Despain, Intel Network Builders Director. “In 2022, as the network continues to evolve and transform, we recognize HCL within our Winners’ Circle program as a Titanium Level awarded partner for its technical innovation and leadership.”
