

Proofpoint Email Security

Summary

It's estimated that 94% of data breaches start with a targeted email to specific users. The Proofpoint email protection platform safeguards the most important asset to your business- the people, by locking down the biggest threat and delivery vector for data loss, compromises, breaches, and malware: email. You can manage the Proofpoint Protection platform through the Proofpoint Essentials control panel, an all-in-one console allowing administrators to work on administrative, deployment, compliance, and day-to-day activities in a single location.

Cybersecurity consulting from HCLTech Consulting Services assists clients in their email security journeys. Whether it is a new implementation, solving your specific security challenges or performing a health check and delivering a get-well plan for your existing services, our team of experts leverages wide-ranging experience with many of the enterprise endpoint and network security solutions on the market today. We seamlessly displace your existing solutions and replace them with the Proofpoint platform, limiting your downtime and ensuring that your security posture is not degraded during the process.
