

Payroll – Workday reconciliation solution using Alteryx

Introduction

In today's digital age managing payrolls through legacy systems and methodologies can be cumbersome and error prone. To address this core issue for our clients, HCLTech has developed an Alteryx based solution to help our clients optimize their workday-payroll system reconciliation process. The Alteryx workflows are expected to accelerate the process of identifying discrepancies between multiple in-house payroll systems and help standardize the reconciliation process for their payroll sites across the globe.

About the solution

The payroll reconciliation solution combines HCLTech's deep capabilities in Alteryx, payroll, workday, advanced analytics and program management and is designed to help clients successfully reconcile multiple payroll databases set against various national standards, with the necessary level of rigor and transparency, while adhering to the intensive project timelines.

Business highlights

Some of the key benefits to note are:

Reduce manual effort to improve productivity

Reduce effort to reconcile data from systems, from days to hours

Improve productivity of HRIS team members using automation

Standardize reconciliation process across all sites

Templatized structures that will allow clients to standardize the reconciliation process across all their global payroll sites.

Improve transparency in reconciliation process

Alteryx workflows are easy to interpret and modify, allowing business users to quickly validate the logic used in reconciliation, and to make changes with the no-code, low-code designer quickly when needed

Workflows are easily scalable, replicated to deploy for similar systems and customers
