HCLTech wins Intel's 2025 EPIC Supplier Award

NEW YORK and NOIDA, India, April 29, 2025—HCLTech, a leading global technology company, has been recognized with the Intel EPIC Supplier Award for 2025, making it one of only 37 Intel EPIC Supplier Award recipients in all of Intel's global supply chain.

This award honors partners who excel in bringing Intel products with effective strategies backed by a profound understanding of market intelligence, segmentation and product messaging related to Intel's offerings. HCLTech has received this award for consistently executing successful go-to-market efforts with Intel products and achieving strategic objectives aligned with Intel's priorities.

"Congratulations to HCLTech on receiving the Intel EPIC Supplier Award, Intel's highest supplier recognition," said Frank Sanders, Corporate Vice President and General Manager of Global Supply Chain Operations, Intel. "Their unwavering commitment to quality, drive for excellence and dedication to technology innovation make them vital to our success. We greatly appreciate their collaboration and continued focus on results."

"As one of a select few companies awarded the Intel EPIC Supplier Award in 2025, HCLTech is truly one of the best suppliers in the semiconductor industry," said Dave Bloss, Corporate Vice President and General Manager of Global Sourcing for Equipment & Materials, Intel. "Their customer orientation and commitment to superior performance is a testament to their dedication and serves as a global benchmark for others to follow."

"Being recognized as Intel's EPIC Supplier shines the light on our strong partnership and shared dedication to innovation, quality and continuous improvement. Being the only Global System Integrator ever to win this award makes this achievement even more special. At HCLTech, we are passionate about delivering world-class engineering solutions that enable our enterprise clients to accelerate their transformation and make a significant difference across the semiconductor value chain," said Anil Ganjoo, Chief Growth Officer, Americas, TMT and RCPG Industries at HCLTech.

The Intel EPIC Supplier Award recognizes the top performers in the Intel supply chain for their dedication to 'EPIC' performance—Excellence, Partnership, Inclusion and Continuous Improvement. Of the thousands of Intel suppliers worldwide, only a few hundred qualify to participate in the EPIC Supplier Program.
