HCLTech's network solution wins 2025 Product of the Year award at NAB Show

NEW YORK and NOIDA, India, May 07, 2025—HCLTech, a leading global technology company, announced that its ATSC 3.0 Broadcast Core Network solution won the 2025 National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) Show's Product of the Year award in the Cloud Computing and Storage category. This marks the third year in a row that HCLTech has received this accolade.

The solution leverages an Agentic AI framework to help broadcasters monetize their excess spectrum and offer various non-core services such as datacasting and AI-based media management. This facilitates the efficient deployment and management of TV channels and datacasting services from a single interface, supporting a multi-vendor environment.

"Congratulations to HCLTech on winning the 2025 NAB Show Product of the Year Award for ATSC 3.0 Broadcast Core Network – a breakthrough solution transforming a pivotal stage of the content lifecycle and empowering storytellers to meet today's challenges while shaping the future of media," said Eric Trabb, Senior Vice President and Chief Customer Success Officer, NAB.

"We are delighted to be recognized by NAB as an industry leader, helping broadcasters adopt new business models and transform with the latest digital technology to modernize and monetize their assets," said Anil Ganjoo, Chief Growth Officer, Americas, TMT and RCPG Industries, HCLTech. "Incorporating AI into our solutions has further enhanced our ability to deliver cutting-edge technology that meets the evolving needs of our clients and supports industry growth."
