Hybrid/multi-cloud adoption: Accelerating digitization

The pace of IT infrastructure transformation to a hybrid/multi-cloud ecosystem continues to accelerate. Yet, many organizations lack a well-defined roadmap on this critical dimension for a seamless transition based on an agile, scalable and flexible infrastructure deployment and capability development.

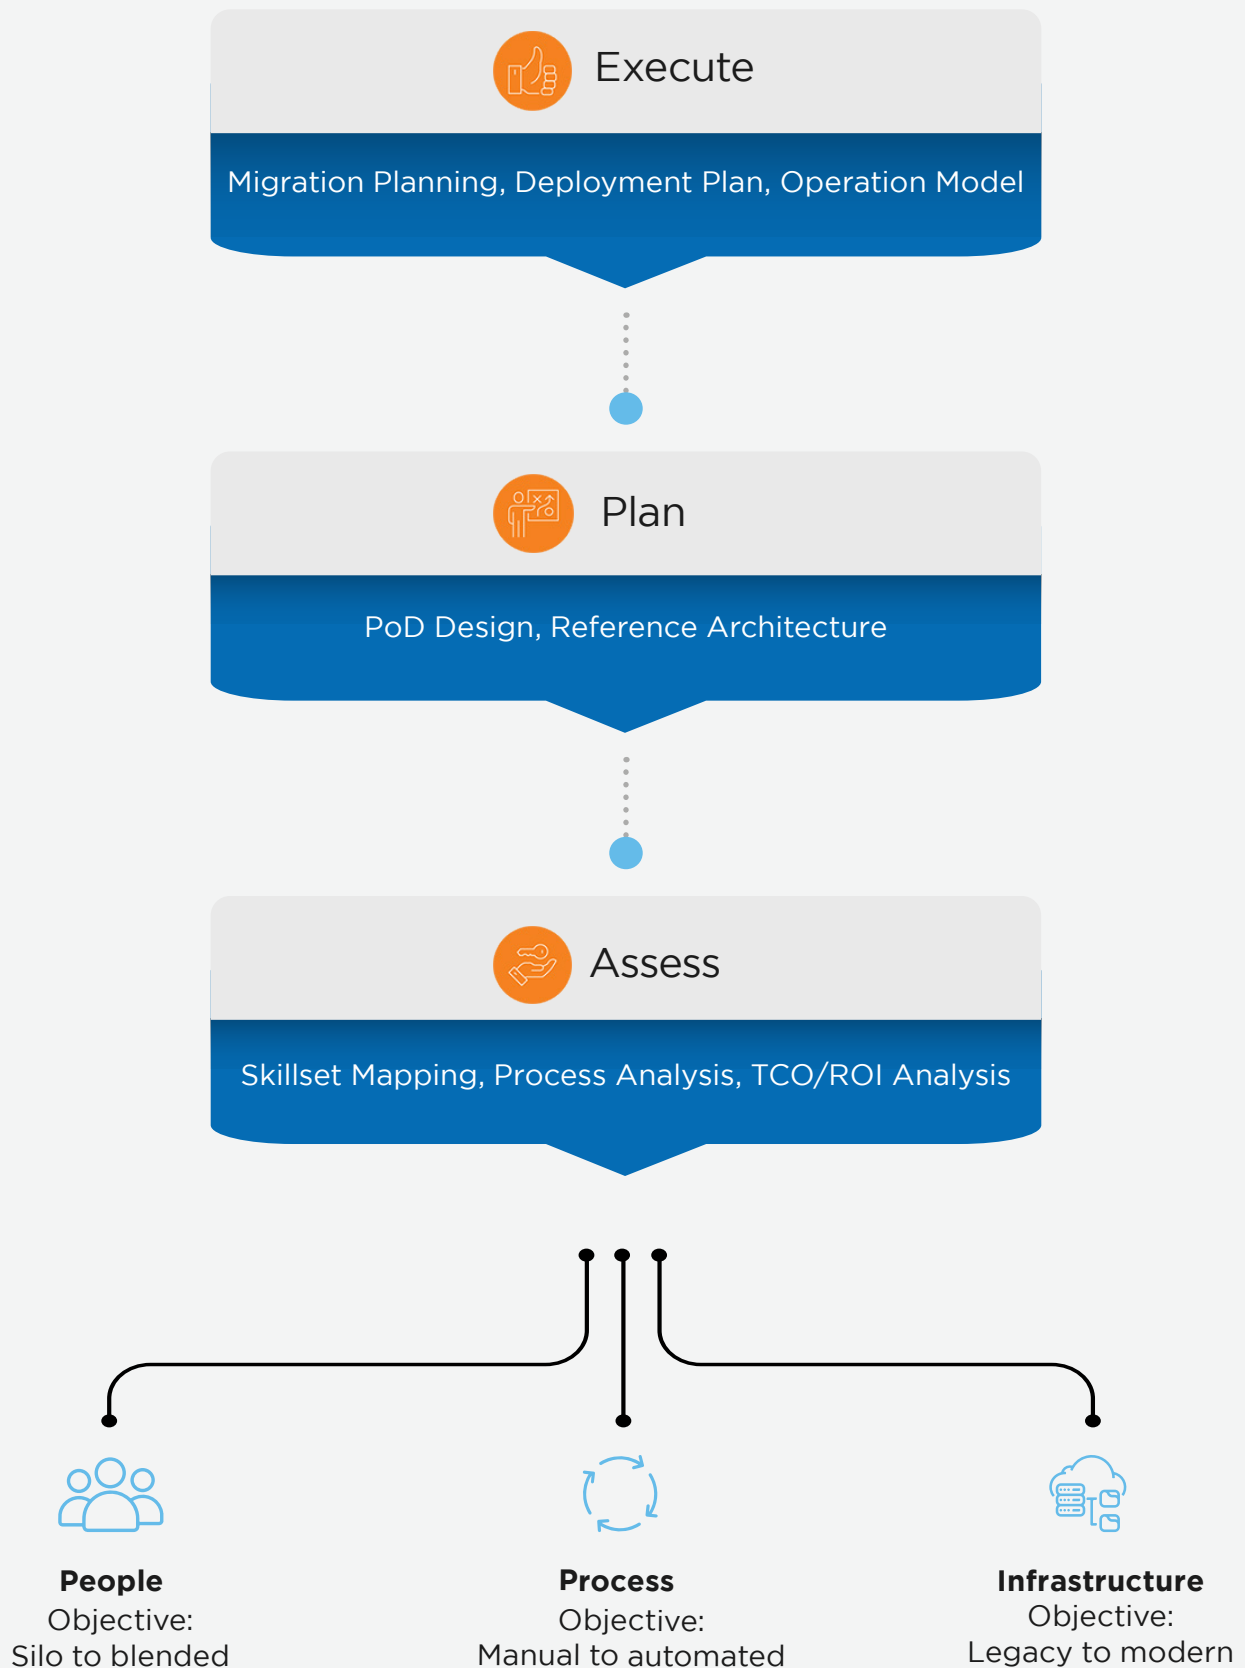

Key challenges for hybrid/multi-cloud transformations

Accelerate hybrid/multi-cloud transformation with HCL Technologies VelocITy-C

Built on HCL Technologies CloudSMART approach, VelocITy-C is a multi-cloud offering based on certified reference architecture, co-developed with Cisco engineering team using validated and tested design that is backed by HCL Technologies' DRYiCE™ framework. It is driven by intelligent automation and a powerful partner ecosystem to address specific business objectives, providing end-to-end delivery of hybrid/multi-cloud services, and allows enterprises to automate their digital infrastructure components and accelerate their transformation journeys.

HCL Technologies' Velocity framework
